

THE ERIC CARLE MUSEUM OF PICTURE BOOK ART

ANNUAL REPORT

Fiscal Year 2023

July 1, 2022 - June 30, 2023

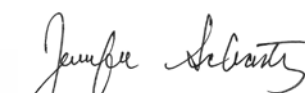

Letter from the Board Chair and Executive Director

The Eric Carle Museum of Picture Book Art, which houses a rich and deep collection of picture book art, is the premiere museum in the United States dedicated solely to picture book art. We illuminate our collection through exhibitions, education, programming, and art-making. Our mission is to elevate picture book art and inspire a love of art, art creation, and reading. In our 20 years of existence, we have become a critical resource for picture book artists and authors, and art-loving communities locally, nationally, and abroad.

We are new to our leadership roles and are greatly indebted to our predecessors, Founding Executive Director and Chief Curator Emeriti H. Nichols B. Clark, former Executive Director Alexandra Kennedy, and former Board Chairs Barbara Carle and Christopher B. Milne. We also are incredibly thankful for our dedicated staff and Board of Trustees for their supportive and inspiring creativity. To Eric and Bobbie Carle, our visionary founders, and the Carle family, we are eternally grateful.

As the world began to return to normal after the perils of the pandemic, and as we continued to navigate 2022 and 2023, we never abandoned our core belief that art promotes tolerance and understanding, and that picture book art inspires a love of art in people of all ages. As you will read in our Fiscal Year 2023 Annual Report, our staff never wavered. They continued to create innovative exhibitions (on-site together with traveling) and online and onsite programs and initiatives, enhancing access, diversifying audiences and collections, and encouraging the love of art. We truly believe that picture book art makes the world a much better place, and we know that you agree!

About the Museum

The Eric Carle Museum of Picture Book Art is the international champion for picture book art. We collect, preserve, and exhibit original art; encourage guests of all ages to read and create art; and foster an ever-growing audience passionate about picture book art.

Eric and Barbara Carle co-founded the Museum in November 2002. Eric Carle was the renowned author and artist of more than 70 books, including the 1969 classic The Very Hungry Caterpillar. Since opening, the facility has served over one million visitors. The Carle houses more than 9,000 works of art in our permanent collection. We have three art galleries, an art studio, an auditorium, picture book and scholarly libraries, and educational programs for families, scholars, educators, and schoolchildren. Bobbie's Meadow is an outdoor space that combines art and nature. Educational offerings include professional training for educators around the country and master's degree programs in children's literature in partnership with Simmons University. For online visitors, the Museum offers a wealth of digital resources, including art activities, book recommendations, collections, exhibition videos, and workshops.

A Museum for Everyone

The Museum typically welcomes 50,000 visitors annually—half from our region and the rest from the greater US and abroad.

Our art museum is for all age levels. In fact, we often see three generations of one family coming together at The Carle, united in their passion for picture book art. Over Fiscal Year 2023, we saw our admissions numbers begin to climb back as people emerged from the pandemic, a positive trend that continued into the second half of calendar year 2023.

The Carle is committed to creating a welcoming and accessible environment for all. As an educational institution, we offer programs, partners, and resources that represent diverse people, diverse modes of learning, and accessible spaces. As an art museum, The Carle collects, exhibits, and preserves the work of artists and authors who historically have been excluded by publishers and museums, including women and people of color. The Carle continues to listen, learn, and grow to improve as an institution, recognizing that this work is never finished but is part of an ever-evolving process that The Carle must continue to prioritize.

In addition to families and school groups, our visitors are typically teachers, librarians, scholars, artists, writers, and art and book enthusiasts. Each year, more than 2,500 students, educators, and librarians participate in youth outreach and professional development programs with our education team.

The Carle works hard to address systemic barriers to art and early literacy by focusing access efforts on families and children from low-income communities. Of note are the strategic partnerships that our education team has formed with schools and social service agencies in neighboring Hampden County, where 17% of households live in poverty and 27% of third-graders do not meet grade level expectations for reading and writing (2022 District Report Card).

Additionally, The Carle Community Fund, which launched in 2019, covers Museum admission for low-income families, field trip fees for schoolchildren at Title One Schools, and professional development fees for early childhood educators and Title One schoolteachers and librarians. This year, more than 1,500 individuals benefited from the program, a number we are eager to grow.

Across all our communities, we recognize an ongoing need to help people connect through art and shared experiences. According to the U.S. Surgeon General's 2023 advisory, Our Epidemic of Loneliness and Isolation, "Humans are wired for social connection, but we've become more isolated over time" (see HHS.gov). At The Carle, we believe sharing picture book art—whether a child is in the lap of a parent, a teacher is reading aloud to a class, or an adult is rediscovering art and stories—provides unique opportunities for building cross-cultural understanding and a more compassionate society.

The Carle Turns

In Fiscal Year 2023, The Carle celebrated its 20th anniversary—and close to a million art-loving visitors—with special exhibitions and activities. Festivities kicked off June 25, 2022, with the opening of the exhibition Celebrating Collage: A 20th Anniversary Celebration. Five of the featured artists—Bryan Collier, Nina Crews, Thao Lam, Susan L. Roth, and Elizabeth Zunon—joined for storytimes, gallery talks, book signings, family activities in Bobbie’s Meadow, and collage-making in the Art Studio.

The WEST GALLERY

View of Eric Carle Loves Japan exhibition

The Museum presents six original art exhibitions a year in its three galleries. Each exhibition underscores the cultural, historical, and artistic significance of picture book art. Exhibitions typically focus on artists' creative processes, from their early influences to sketches to published artwork. Retrospectives feature works by historically important figures as well as contemporary artists working today. Thematically organized exhibitions have covered topics such as the civil rights movement, Jewish picture books, graphic novels, and wordless picture books. Additionally, The Carle offers online exhibitions and thematic book displays in the Reading Library.

The West Gallery is permanently dedicated to Eric Carle's art.

All West Gallery exhibitions are made possible through the generous support of the Hsin-Yi Foundation.

Exhibitions: Elevating Picture Book Art

Traveling Exhibitions

Every year at least six of The Carle’s exhibitions—past or present—travel to museums in the US and abroad, ensuring museums everywhere can introduce new audiences to the joy of picture book art. In recent years, partnerships with major institutions like the New-York Historical Society in Manhattan, the High Museum of Art in Atlanta, the Frist Art Museum in Nashville, the Museum of Fine Arts in Boston, and the Children’s Museum of Pittsburgh have enabled us to bring picture book art exhibitions to a much wider audience than we serve in Amherst, shining a spotlight on The Carle and its expertise.

New Acquisitions

In Fiscal Year 2023, The Carle added 686 original works to its permanent collection.

The Carle has become a home to some of the most recognizable and beloved picture book art in the world. The Museum cares for more than 13,000 objects, including over 9,000 works of art in its permanent collection, representing every decade of the last century and more than 250 artists. Significant holdings include work by Ashley Bryan, Remy Charlip, Antonio Frasconi, Leo Lionni, Arnold Lobel, Petra Mathers, J.P. Miller, Alice Bolam Preston, William Steig, Susanne Suba, Brinton Turkle, Simms Taback, and Leonard Weisgard. In Fiscal Year 2023, we continued to increase diversity in the collection by adding works by women artists and artists of color.

The Museum also cares for Eric Carle's picture book art collection, comprising over 4,000 original artworks and various ephemera.

With a state-of-the-art database funded through a federal grant from the Institute of Museum and Library Services, The Carle's collection team continues to update records and digitize collections. Hundreds of images are now highlighted on the Museum's website. The team's long-term goal is to make the complete collection accessible and searchable for the public.

Gallery Tours

Throughout the year The Carle offers hundreds of special events, talks and lectures, workshops, art projects, and storytimes.

Gallery tours with artists, curators, and educators provide special opportunities for museum visitors to learn about The Carle's collections and exhibitions. They are encouraged to look carefully, ask questions, and share their own stories and memories related to the art on view.

Education, Scholarship, and Lifelong Learning

The Carle has three interpretive objectives: to expand and deepen an appreciation for picture book art; to empower people to make meaning through words and images; and to connect people through picture book art and picture books.

This approach is inspired by the early-learning centers found in Pistoia and Reggio Emilia, Italy, and by Visual Thinking Strategies.

The early-childhood centers in Pistoia and Reggio Emilia, Italy, are guided by respect for the intelligence of young children and their desire to make meaning of the world around them. Their educators believe children have “the right and the ability to express their thinking, theories, ideas, learning, and emotions in many ways.”

Professional Development

Ongoing workshops, which are presented online and on site, teach educators how to look carefully at the art and design of a book, and to integrate picture books and art-making into their classrooms and libraries. Last year, these programs engaged 1,107 participants. The Carle’s educators have developed specific workshops to address priority curriculum areas including “Exploring Race and Representation in Picture Books” and “Little Books, Big Feelings: Picture Books and Social-Emotional Learning.”

Educator workshop

In addition to providing professional development workshops to educators, librarians, and school districts, The Carle again partnered with the Massachusetts StrongStart Professional Development System to offer ongoing virtual professional learning communities (PLCs) that meet more frequently and allow for deeper, responsive learning for participating early-learning educators. The Carle offered 12 PLCs through StrongStart in Fiscal Year 2023, and piloted bilingual workshops.

Youth Programs

The Carle’s youth outreach offerings provide art and literacy programs for schools as well as community and youth organizations. Bonding with Books, which originated as a 2018 grant-funded literacy initiative supporting neighboring low-income communities, continues with local partners. They include Home City Families (Springfield, MA) and Worcester Family Partnership (Worcester, MA). These early literacy programs feature interactive storytimes and distribute picture books and other resources to support early learning at home.

Like many other museums, The Carle began offering more outreach programs virtually in early 2020. As a content provider for Streamable Learning, a platform that provides interactive streaming for K-12 students, The Carle is able to connect with schools throughout the country. For the past two years we have also developed a partnership with Connected North, providing virtual education programming for remote Indigenous communities throughout Canada.

Education, Scholarship, and Lifelong Learning

Academic Partnerships

Multiple partnerships allow The Carle to greatly expand its reach and share in the scholarly advancement of the field. A key long-term collaboration is with the Center for the Study of Children's Literature at Simmons University in Boston. For more than 40 years, the Center has been the preeminent graduate program for students interested in the field of children's literature. With Simmons, The Carle hosts graduate degree programs, including an onsite MFA in Writing for Children and an MA in Children's Literature.

Educational partnerships with local colleges and universities include service-learning collaborations with Holyoke Community College (HCC) and the University of Massachusetts Amherst (UMass). For the past five years, The Carle's art educators have worked with HCC's Early Childhood Education program, providing workshops and hands-on museum experiences for pre-service teachers. A more recent partnership with UMass Amherst supported a course titled "Community, Storytelling, and Translation." Following training with The Carle's literacy educator, students prepared a series of bilingual storytimes and presented them at the Museum. Multilingual May included storytimes in Arabic, Mandarin, Quechua, and Spanish.

The Barbara Elleman Research Library (BERL)

This non-circulating book collection of more than 1,000 volumes was amassed by Barbara Elleman over the course of her 30-year career in the field of children's literature. The collection features author and illustrator biographies, literary criticism, catalogs of international and national picture book art exhibitions, periodicals, and related ephemera. The collection is available to scholars and students by appointment. Each spring, The Carle invites a scholar, librarian, artist, or publishing professional to deliver the Barbara Elleman Research Library Lecture.

The Carle Bookshop

A destination in its own right, The Carle Bookshop specializes in titles that support the Museum's goal to be inclusive and to encourage early literacy. The shop is nationally known for its large picture book section, which includes many signed books, and for its vast selection of Eric Carle books and merchandise. There also is a large selection of books for adult readers. Displays typically reflect the exhibitions on view as well as featured programs. For example, in Fiscal Year 2023, the shop featured (and sold out of) hard-to-find World of Eric Carle items imported from Japan to support the exhibition Eric Carle Loves Japan.

Fueling the Love of Art and Art-Making

The Art Studio's Everyday Art Project welcomes people of all ages to play with materials and make art together. Activities and materials change regularly and are inspired by the Museum's exhibitions. The charming results are showcased in creative displays throughout the Art Studio.

The space and programming of The Carle Art Studio is supported by a generous annual sponsorship from Penguin Books For Young Readers.

The 2022 Carle Honors

The Carle hosted its 16th annual gala and fundraiser on September 22, 2022, celebrating individuals and organizations whose creative vision and long-term dedication have had a profound effect on picture books and the vital role they play in arts appreciation and early literacy. Children's literature historian and critic Leonard S. Marcus chairs the committee that selects the honorees each year.

The 16th Annual Carle Honors raised in excess of $250,000 for the Museum and its programming and exhibitions. Co-chaired by Suzanne Collins and Cap Pryor, the 2022 Carle Honors were presented to the recipients (featured on the facing page) of these four distinctive awards:

- Artist, for lifelong innovation in the field
- Angel, whose generous resources are crucial to making illustrated children's book art exhibitions, education programs, and related projects a reality
- Bridge, individuals and organizations who have found inspired ways to bring the art of the picture book to larger audiences through work in other fields.
- Mentor, editors, designers, and educators who champion the art form

Carle Honors Artist Faith Ringgold is a painter, mixed media sculptor, teacher, lecturer, and author of numerous award-winning children's books. Her first children's book, the renowned Tar Beach, won more than 20 awards, including a 1991 Caldecott Honor and the Coretta Scott King Award. A creative and cultural force, her work is in the permanent collections of numerous museums in the US and abroad, and continues to influence younger artists.

Carle Honors Angel Dolly Parton's Imagination Library was represented by President Jeff Conyers. The nonprofit inspires a lifelong love of books and learning by mailing specially selected books monthly to the homes of registered children, from birth to age 5. The Imagination Library gifts more than 1.8 million books each month internationally and has given more than 180 million books since inception.

Carle Honors Bridge Aja (阿甲) is one of China's foremost translators of Western children's books and an influential storyteller, author, and educator. In addition to writing his own picture books and books about children's literature, he has translated more than 200 picture books from English to Chinese.

Carle Honors Mentors Wade and Cheryl Hudson are authors, publishers, and leading advocates for equity, diversity, and inclusion in the children's book industry. In 1988, they founded Just Us Books to publish children's literature that centers around and celebrates Black people, history, and culture.

To New Heights

Honoring Alix Kennedy's 15 Years!

In November 2023, The Carle celebrated and honored Alix Kennedy's 15 years of extraordinary leadership, expanding the depth and breadth of the Museum and setting the stage for The Carle to reach new heights. The event was a great success, raising more than $240,000 to support inclusion, collections care, and free access to the Museum, and acquiring 47 works of art by 37 artists as gifts to our permanent collection.

Alix Kennedy graciously receives a standing ovation during the To New Heights Fundraiser celebrating her 15 years of incredible leadership.

Presenters included Board Chair William Gorth (top right) and Executive Director, The Eric and Barbara Carle foundation, Rolf Carle (bottom right).

A Thank-You from the Executive Director Emerita

For me, Fiscal Year 2023 was all about change. Last November, I announced to the board and senior staff that I wanted to step down as Executive Director after 15 years. I was eager to find time for my own projects—writing and consulting—and I was confident the Museum was thriving and in a good place for new leadership. It wasn't an easy decision, though. The Carle had been the professional opportunity of a lifetime for me, and the Board and I were determined to make the transition seamless.

I'm really proud now as I look back over the last year. After conducting a thoughtful national search process, including input from senior staff, the Board named Jennifer Schantz our new executive director. Passionate about the mission, highly skilled, and with 20 years of museum experience already under her belt, she was clearly the right choice.

Jen and I then overlapped for a couple of months this fall—a huge opportunity we both threw ourselves into. She will be developing a new strategic plan in 2024, and we wanted her to be ready. She took over the day-to-day operations from day one, while I hosted a dizzying “meet our supporters and partners” tour for the two of us. We also spent hours reviewing in depth the history of the Museum. She's more than ready now and is already turning to new ways to make the next 20 years even more exciting.

As for me, my last day with The Carle was November 21. I'm staying put in Western Massachusetts and have already started putting upcoming Museum events on my 2024 calendar. I really hope I'll see you there.

Staff members meet each morning before the Museum opens to plan for guests, school groups, and staffing needs for the day

Beloved Co-Founders

Eric and Barbara Carle founded The Carle in 2002 to celebrate and elevate picture book art. “It has been said that picture books are an introduction to literature for young children,” Carle said. “We also wanted to introduce our youngest guests, so new to museums, to the joys of looking at art.”

The Carle board and staff remain deeply grateful for the Carles’ generosity and vision, and are proud to carry on their legacy for all picture book artists and those who love their work. The Eric and Barbara Carle Foundation continues to be a major supporter of the Museum’s work.

“What could be better than a place that caters to children’s learning, creativity, beautiful art, and thoughtful exhibits that promote different perspectives and insights? The Carle does it all! I love it!”

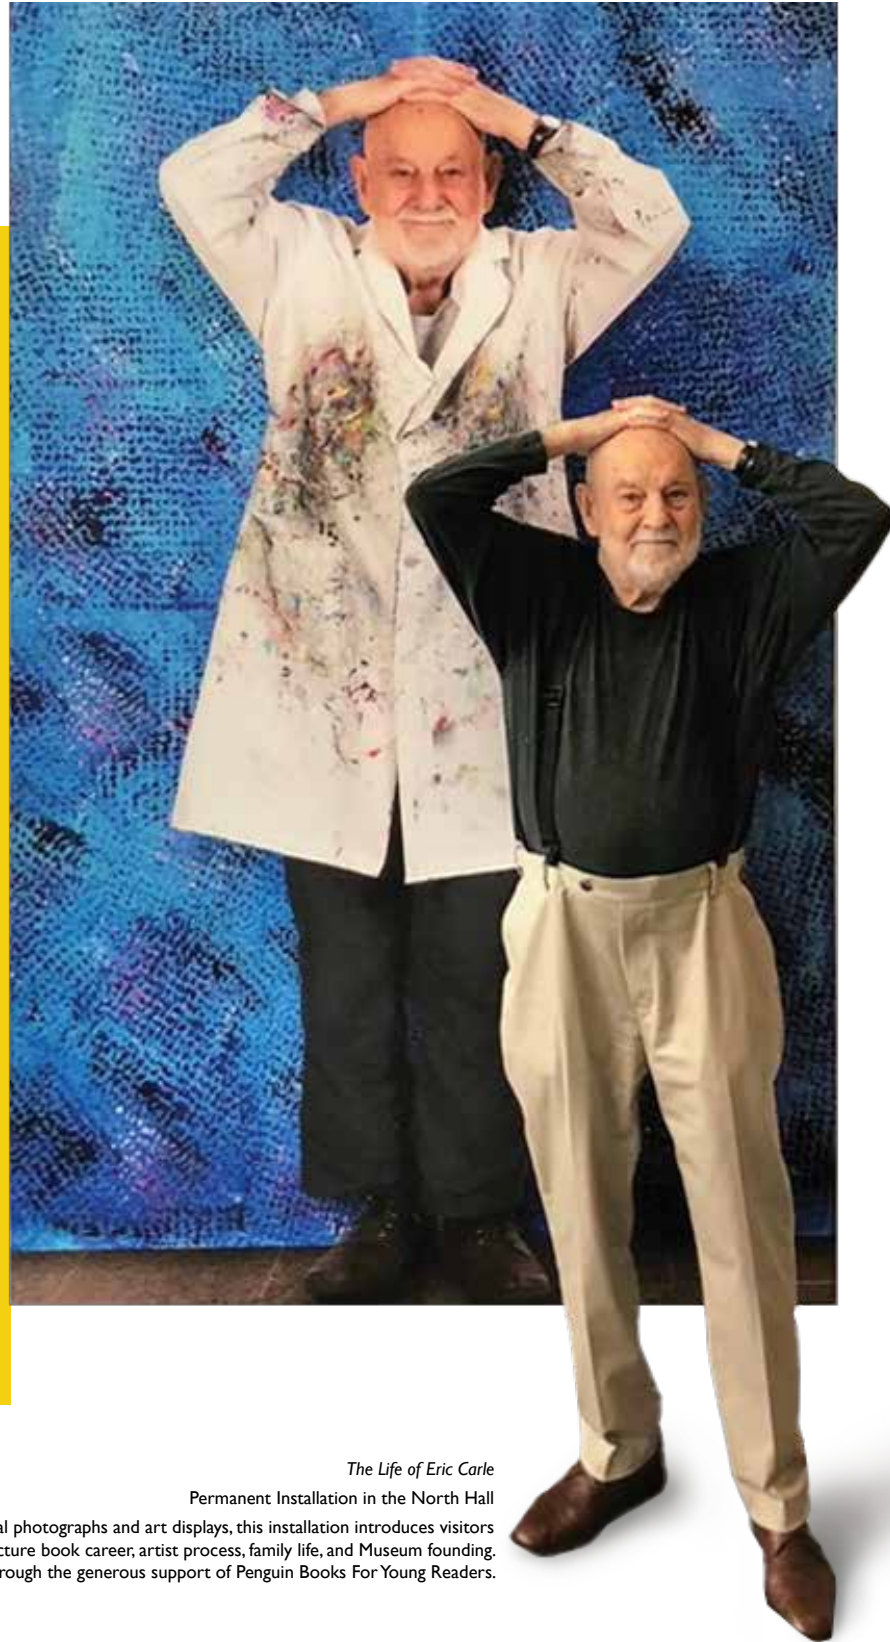

— Lou Ann Daly, Supporter

All of the arts are so important for all people no matter their age. It is our common humanity.”

— Eric Carle,
Artist and Author

The Life of Eric Carle

Permanent Installation in the North Hall

Through personal photographs and art displays, this installation introduces visitors to Carle's early years, picture book career, artist process, family life, and Museum founding. The exhibition was made possible through the generous support of Penguin Books For Young Readers.
